

Armed conflict

ACTION CHECKLIST

If fighting is nearby, get away from windows and exposed areas and follow trustworthy local shelter or evacuation instructions. Keep people together, identify a safe place and a contact outside the area, and carry essential medication and documents if you must leave. Never touch an unfamiliar munition or suspicious debris.

[] Get to safer cover

Move away from windows and exterior openings to a sturdy interior space when travel is unsafe. If authorities direct an evacuation and the route is safe, follow it.

[] Keep a family plan

Agree on a meeting point and an out-of-area contact. Write down important numbers; phone and data service may fail.

[] Prepare for movement

Keep identification, medication, water, phone power, weather-appropriate clothing, and children's essentials accessible. Check current routes and shelter options before departure.

[] Avoid explosive remnants

Do not approach, handle, or move unexploded objects. Keep others away and report the location through local authorities when safe.

WATCH FOR

This is civilian protective guidance, not a movement order. The safest choice can change quickly with the location, time, and instructions from responsible authorities.

Updated 2026-10-02 | General guidance. Follow current local instructions. In immediate danger, contact emergency services.

Full guide: <https://ospreyzero.com/emergencies/armed-conflict/>

ICRC · Explosive remnants of war

U.S. State Department · Crisis response